

Michael Carroll

Agricultural engineer graduated from the University of Buenos Aires and advisor to CREA at the beginning of the professional career. Canadian citizen since 1984, specialized in international agricultural development. World Bank official from 1992 to 2012, dedicated to agri-environmental projects and sustainable management of natural resources. Responsible for more than 50 operations and studies in 26 countries in Africa, Central Asia, and Latin America, including Uruguay, Paraguay, and Brazil.

Based in Uruguay since 2012, active through consultancies on sustainable development issues for international agencies (World Bank, FAO, IFAD, IICA, UNIDO, UNDP), as well as being a member of the GPS and technical advisor to the Regional Directory of the Alianza del Pastizal, initiative that integrates livestock producers, technicians, and environmental civil society from the four Mercosur countries.