

Marcelo Regunaga

Academic Director of the Cereal Exchange Education and Training Program. Former Academic Director and Graduate Professor in Agribusiness and Food Industry at the University of San Andrés and Professor of the Master's Degree in Agribusiness at the University of Buenos Aires. Consultant in Technology, Bioeconomy, Trade, and Investments of national and international organizations. Former Administrator of agro-industrial companies.

Member Counselor of the Argentine Council for International Relations. Member of the Advisory Committee of the Hemispheric Bioeconomy and Productive Development Program of IICA and the Steering Committee of the Global Bioeconomy Summit 2020. He was Vice President of the International Policy Council on Food and Agricultural Trade.

Former Secretary of Agriculture, Livestock and Fisheries of Argentina (he was in charge of the institutional design and initial implementation of Argentina's biotechnology policy). Former Secretary of Industry, Trade and Mining of Argentina.